George Vogel, Schenectady, N. Y., junior in the College of Engineering, and a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity, was named editor of the 1934 Kentuckian yesterday afternoon by the student committee on Publications, after the election of J. D. Palmer had been declared void by the board.

J. D. Palmer, Providence, junior in the College of Commerce, was elected by the junior class at the annual election on April 11, and his election was declared valid and fair by the Student Council at a meeting Monday afternoon. Previous to the meeting of the Student Council the committee on Publications declared the election null and void after Horace Helm, president of the junior class, had petitioned it to do so on the grounds that not all juniors had a chance to vote in the original poll.

Palmer stated yesterday afternoon that the results of the election will be appealed by him to the University Senate for action on the validity of the decision of the board. Reason for this action was given by Palmer as the fact that the Student Council had ruled the junior election to be fair and the Publications committee ruled it to be void.

A motion was made and passed at Thursday's session asking that Pres. Frank L. McVey be asked to concur in all selections made by the committee. If he rejects the selection the election will be given to the junior class.

The contract for engraving was awarded to the Schultz-Gossiger company, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the contract for printing was awarded to The Kernel.

At the meeting of the committee held Tuesday, petitions from members of the junior class asking that Vogel be elected and petitions asking that Palmer be declared editor were considered. Seven bids for engraving were considered but no decision was made at that time.

Every morning during the first few hours it is practically impossible to find a parking place in the McVey hall area. Can't this situation be remedied? Certainly it can. Along the south side of McVey and Kastle halls there is a grass plot approximately 20 feet wide, and part of this could be made into parking space without destroying the looks of the grounds.

Furthermore, a great deal of space could be saved by painting white division lines and having the cars parked on the bias. It could be so arranged that twice as many automobiles could be parked in the area than is now possible.

Pi Sigma Alpha, political science fraternity, will hold an important business meeting Monday at 4 p. m. May 1 in Room 203, Administration building. All members are urged to be present.

The Dutch Lunch club, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., will meet at 12 o'clock in the University commons. Miss Marjorie West, chairman, will introduce the speaker, Dr. J. T. C. Noe, poet laureate of Kentucky, who will read some of his poetry. All students that live in town and commute are invited to attend this interesting program.

The German club will hold a meeting at 4 p. m. May 2, in room 204, Administration building. All members are urged to attend.

Omega Beta Pi will have an election of officers at 7 p. m. in room 207 Science hall. All members are requested to attend.

Dr. Esther Cole will meet her vocational guidance group at 4 p. m. Tuesday, May 2, in the staff room of the library.

Miss Lulle Logan will meet her vocational guidance group at 4 p. m. Tuesday, May 2, in the new Women's building.

There will be a meeting of Scabbard and Blade pledges immediately after the parade today in the Y. M. C. A. room in the Armory.

There will be a meeting of the Kernel staff members at 2 p. m. this afternoon in the news room. This meeting is very important and every member must attend.

Lexington chapter, Order of DeMolay, will hold a regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. tonight at the Masonic temple. Petitions for membership (Continued on Page Four)

FINAL REHEARSALS FOR REVUE
ARE SCHEDULED FOR THIS WEEK"Hosses Are Romantic." Take-off On Derby Day, Is Being Given Final Touches and Criticisms
By Director Curtis

"Hosses Are Romantic," the Stroller production to be staged at Woodland auditorium next Monday and Tuesday nights, May 1 and 2, is ready for the final rehearsals and finishing touches before being presented under the direction of James W. Curtis.

The stage equipment has been completed under the direction of James Fay, stage manager. Through the courtesy of Tommie Lyons, a former Stroller director, and G. L. Crutcher, former member of Strollers, the stage scenery has been made extraordinarily attractive and from every standpoint the show will be put on in a truly professional manner.

Although termed a revue, it is not strictly a revue. It more nearly approaches that type of entertainment than any other, however, and seems an ideal medium through which to portray the local-colored situations essential to the development of an idea of this character. Besides a central plot the show will include more than 20 musical novelties.

To Flossie Allen goes the credit for the original idea of building the show around the Kentucky Derby, but the plot of the show itself was written by William B. Ardery, former Stroller director and also former editor of The Kernel.

Guests Present

Cale Young Rice, Louisville, poet and honorary alumnus of the University gave a reading of many of his poems before the University Women's club Tuesday afternoon at Patterson hall.

Mr. Rice was introduced by Mrs. McVey as "a patron of the arts, a good citizen, a gentleman, and an honorary alumnus of the University of Kentucky." He interspersed the reading of his selections with interpretations and appropriate comment.

Special guests present to hear Mr. Rice were the Faculty Women's club of Transylvania college, members of the English departments of the University and Transylvania, and members of the board of directors of the Woman's club of Central Kentucky.

Richard Allison, baritone, sang two numbers, "Ole Speak's Morning" and "Londonderry Air." Mrs. Frank C. Foxworth was his accompanist.

Mr. Rice's readings had an international flavor including poems of India, France, China, Mexico, and the United States. The poems he read were "West Wind Words," "Spring Fever," "Rain Nocturne," "A Nun at Sea," "The Wild Boar Time," "Relativity," "Chanson of the Bells of Osney," "Monsoon Mad Philosophy," "His Widow," "Faro Philosophy," "Thanatopsis for Hetty," "The Pilgrim of Tibet," "The Mystic" and a group known as "Cities," which includes poetic descriptions of the present conditions in London, Berlin, Paris, Rome, Moscow, Tokyo, and New York. The last group of "Cities," "Faro Philosophy," and "Thanatopsis for Hetty," were taken from Mr. Rice's latest book. All the poems he read have been published.

FIFTEEN MEN IN
CONVOCAIONMajor Brewer, Prof. Moreland, Faculty Members,

SPEAKER, IS HONOREDPublic School System in Kentucky
Is Defended in Address

At Tuesday's convocation in Memorial hall, Omicron Delta Kappa national campus leaders fraternities pledged James H. Richmond, state superintendent of public instruction and speaker at the convocation, and two faculty members as honorary members in addition to 12 University students.

The pledges are: Major Brewer, head of the military department; Prof. Roy Moreland, of the Law college; Joe H. Mills, Lexington; Turner Howard, Lexington; Lucien Congleton, Lexington; Ralph Edwards, Walton; Frank Adams, Hustonville; Smith Broadbent, Cadiz; Russell Gray, Schenectady, N. Y.; James Bishop, Murray; Hamilton Greenup, Frankfort; O. B. Murphy, Lexington; Walter Stettler, Owensboro; and Thomas Cassidy, East St. Louis.

Mr. Richmond defended the public school system in his address declaring that no other organized agency of society had been subjected to greater attack than our public schools, despite the fact that they have given a better account of their stewardship than any other branch of the government. He further stated that these attacks upon the schools should occasion no surprise for the paradox is well established that when society "gets down on its knees," it usually resorts to the practice of picking to pieces and ungenerously penalizing those social divisions that are most necessary to the maintenance of a well ordered society.

"There must not be a moratorium in education in Kentucky," declared Mr. Richmond. "Today's children must be educated today. Some government enterprises, worthy as they may be, can postpone their programs until tomorrow, but not so with the public schools." Mr. Richmond, who presided and introduced Mr. Richmond, also presented Prof. D. Y. Dunn, superintendent of Fayette county schools and recently elected president of Kentucky Education association. The Rev. George D. Heaton, pastor of Felix Memorial Baptist church gave the invocation and benediction. Dr. Abner Kelley played the prelude and postlude on the organ.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO

Guests

WILDCATS MEET VOL

By J. B. WELLS
The fourteenth annual Kentucky Interscholastic track meet will be held on Stoll field, May 6, beginning at 10 a. m.

The first interscholastic track in the state of Kentucky, was held in 1914, under the supervision of the department of University Extension. The meet was held yearly until 1925 when it was discontinued, due to the building operations on Stoll field at that time. Georgetown then provided for the high school meet for the next six years.

In 1931 the Interscholastic track meet was continued under the supervision of the Extension and Athletic departments. That year 29 high schools were entered in the meet. The meet was again held in 1932, which proved to be even more successful than ever before.

The University is preparing for the reception of the high school athletes on May 6, and expects the 14th state track and field meet to surpass any previous event.

As an added feature a dual track meet will take place the afternoon of May 6 between the Big Blue varsity and Tennessee. There will be no admission to the meets and no fee will be charged the high schools, which wish to enter teams.

Several awards will be given to the winners in the scholastic meet. A set of five medals will be awarded for each event except the two relays. The set consists of a gold, silver, and three bronze medals. Cups will be given to the winner of the mile and half-mile relays. Individuals of the winning teams will receive gold medals. A cup will be given to the individual high point scorer, and a plaque will be awarded immediately after each event.

Along with the other awards the Madden Memorial Trophy will be given to the winners of the meet. These are given in memory of the late John E. Madden, who was an outstanding track man in his youth and an athlete of the highest type.

Five places will be given in each event; the points counting 5, 4, 3, 2, 1. Scoring in the relay will be the same way. For any tie places, points will be split, and the medals will be drawn for by representatives of the schools tying.

and Should Win

With one victory and a defeat in two starts, the Wildcat track team, considerably improved by intensive drills this week, will meet the Berea Mountaineers at Berea Monday at 2 p. m. in their third meet of the year.

The three point decision dropped to the George Tech Yellow Jackets unquestionably was a bitter blow to take, for the Cats had been ahead until the relay. The defeat in the relay snatched victory from defeat for Tech. The Big Blue relay team, composed of men who had competed in other events, was hardly able to compete on an even basis with fresh men.

Tryouts for the Berea meet will be held this afternoon. The lineup for the Cats is expected to remain unchanged but there will be additions as the meet will be conducted on the three place system; points being awarded for first, second, and third. Coach Shively will take 20 men to the Madison county institution, and the men who will go will be determined by the results of the trials today. The squad will make the trip in cars and will leave Lexington at 11 a. m.

Stroller Alumni
May Present PlayHerndon Evans To Preside at Meeting of Alumni
April 29

The Stroller Alumni association will meet at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, April 29, at the Green Tree tea room to discuss the possibilities of reviving a former Stroller production. If the play is reproduced it will be Friday night, June 2, at the Guignol theater. Herndon Evans, president of the association, will preside at the dinner. Mr. Evans is editor of the "Pineville Sun."

Possibly one of the following productions will be given by the same cast that was in it the first time it appeared at the Guignol theater: "Admirable Crichton," "Mice and Men," or "The Thirteenth Chair."

If it is definitely decided that the Stroller alumni will produce a play that they gave several years ago, the directors, stage manager, and cast will be named in the near future. The cast will do intensive rehearsing at a camp at Clear Creek, in Bell county, or a camp on the Kentucky river, where they will spend the week-end. Proceeds of the play will be given to the Alumni association.

All of the Stroller alumni are urged to attend this important dinner meeting Saturday night.

Coaches-Faculty Tangle On Court to Provide Loan Fund

A sports carnival will be staged in the Alumni gym May 3 to provide money for the student loan fund. The feature event will be a faculty-coaches basketball game, but boxing matches, wrestling matches and rope skipping contests are also on the card.

Gayle Mohney, coach of the faculty team, is confident that his outfit will have sweet revenge on the coaches for the beating the sports mentors handed the pedagogues last year. Gayle will referee the fray and he promises to do all he can to assure victory for his team by having them in perfect condition on the day of the game.

According to the faculty the only man they fear on the coaches' lineup is Trainer "Skipper" Man, whose deadly marksmanship was largely responsible for the coaches' victory.

M. E. Potter, coach of the mentors, is practicing every day on stunts in order to cope with the

DEAN ANDERSON

Meet in Administration Building

MEET IS SATURDAY

Dean F. Paul Anderson will represent the University of Kentucky at a regional conference of the National Research council, Division of Engineering and Industrial Research, to be held Saturday morning, April 29, in the Administration building of the Century of Progress Exposition, Chicago, for the purpose of formulating a program for carrying on industrial research in those schools of engineering affording men and facilities for engineering research.

Recognizing the importance of cooperation in research and the manifestation of mutual interest, the Division of Engineering and Industrial Research has organized a Committee on Bridging the Gap Between University and Industry. This committee proposes to make a survey of engineering college research facilities and capacities. The proposed survey is part of a primary investigation of the relations which may be established for the best material interests of collegiate and industrial research. Many industries, trade associations, and other bodies are at present supporting research in particular educational institutions by subsidies and by the establishment of fellowships.

The following universities will be represented at the regional conference in Chicago on April 29: Armour Institute of Technology, University of Cincinnati, University of Illinois, Iowa State College, University of Iowa, Kansas State College, University of Kansas, University of Kentucky.

THEY ALSO SERVE

A sports carnival to be held in the Alumni gymnasium May 3 is demonstrative of the faculty's attitude toward the student body. The various events, featuring a faculty-coaches basketball game, will be staged to raise money for the Student Loan Fund. Hilarious wrestling matches between corpulent members of the departments and staffs and boxing bouts participated in by men as unmatched as it is possible to make them, will provide entertainment for the supporters of a worthwhile cause.

Students, in addition to townspeople, are prone to discredit, with a sneer, any mention as to the friendly spirit existing between professors and the student body. An outstanding example of this praise worthy relationship was brought to the attention of The Kernel last semester. A senior in the Arts and Sciences college was stricken with pneumonia and was bed-ridden for three weeks. When he returned to his classes, an associate professor in the English department called him into the department's office and placing an arm about the convalescent's shoulder, reminded him that it would be best if the student would not exert himself until all effects of the illness had disappeared. Cautious persons will doubtless wink slyly upon receipt of this information. Nevertheless, it tends to show conclusively that members of the faculty are solicitous concerning the welfare of their students and certainly do not take unfair advantage of the authority vested in them.

The net proceeds of the carnival will be turned over to the Student Loan Fund. Several hundred dollars will be added to the rapidly depreciating coffers of the fund. The Kernel, on behalf of the student body, proffers its sincere and heart-felt appreciation to the faculty members and the coaches for this outward expression of its fraternal attitude toward the student body.

WHAT DID YOU SAY

Have you ever seen a man try to eat soup with a knitting needle? Didn't have much luck, did he? The same principle is implied when an instructor tries to conduct a class in McVey hall while students trolic in the hallways as if they were engaged in a game of Drop the Handkerchief or Peter Coddies. It can't be done! The disturbances created by these idiotic students sound like sales day in the New York Stock Exchange.

Manners maketh the man, said old William of Wykeham. But what he should have said was, man maketh the manners—manners that best fit his own character. Time as well as place must be taken into reckoning. The difference between a gentleman and a boor is that a gentleman is at home in any place without appearing to own it, while a vulgar man acts as though he owned every place without appearing at home in it. One test can always be applied to the gentleman in any age—the same which is applied to milk wagons going down hill; the ones which carry the least load make the most noise.

Manners are the outward manifestation of our sense of obligation toward each other. It is true that our sense of obligation is continually changing, but manners do not decay with time. What constitutes perfect behavior at an Embassy ball would look a little stilted on a football field. And what passes for perfect etiquette at the fish market would be somewhat conspicuous at a Y. W. C. A. tea. But no matter where a man is, if he has no respect for himself, he should have respect for others at least, especially his elders.

If guilty students do not feel the agony of self-consciousness, and wish to continue their childish antics and boisterous babblings near the recitation rooms, we would contribute gladly to a fund that would go toward the construction of a little recreation yard where they might spend their recess periods at marbles, ping-pong, or hop-scootch.

Some students who have paid their tuition to get an education in return have not heard their instructor's voice this semester. Who could hear his voice when mumbblings from the hallways sound like a verbal fight in a Chinese laundry? If our disrespectful collegians do not procure books of etiquette and verse themselves on the subject of self behavior, nothing short of a miracle will prevent them from being forced to wear a gag hereafter. That would be cheaper than having all instructors and students equipped with sound-proof earmuffs.

A noisy noise annoys an oyster, also instructors, students and what have you.

STROLLERS

"Hosses Are Romantic," written by a former member of Strollers, has been chosen as the annual spring production of the University's dramatic organization. The revue characterized by a localized script, is expected to rival the success of last year's production, "Good News."

The scene of the production appropriately centers about the Kentucky Derby. Members of the Kentucky Racing commission, and managers and owners of Calumet farm will be guests of honor at the "first night" performance.

Because the cast is composed of members of Strollers who have appeared in previous production, and is directed by experienced producers, the revue is forecast to attain a degree of professionalism seldom achieved by college dramatic organizations.

Interest in the revue should be manifested, especially because "Hosses Are Romantic," will be presented during Derby week. University students, as lovers of the Blue Grass area, should realize that the Stroller revue provides them an opportunity to attend a production in which the characteristics of a Kentucky tradition are cleverly worked out.

"Hosses Are Romantic," is the second University dramatic presentation of the school year which was written by persons directly connected with the University, and having local setting. The Guignol play, "Alas! Poor Yorick," written by former University students, was presented earlier in the season.

EDUCATION—A FARCE?

In the address of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, James H. Richmond, there was much material for serious thought. Aside from this factor it was refreshing to hear someone tell the truth about the educational situation in this state.

Why do we hear so much talk in favor of retrenchment in education? Professor Richmond believes it is because of the desire of the now collapsed industrial leadership to throw up a smoke screen to hide their own discrepancies. He pointed out that an education is one thing that can always be retained and used in comparison to other material things which change in value from time to time.

Educational institutions have already taken more than their share of cuts being made in government expenditures. Professor Richmond gave figures that showed less money had been spent each year, from 1907 up to the present time. For example, in 1907 the various educational institutions received 42 per cent of the revenue of Kentucky, but in 1931 that figure had dropped to only 17 per cent. The average cost per day to keep a child in school in this state is 26 cents. This figure is lower by 22 cents than the average cost over the nation.

The Superintendent believes, and rightly, that money spent in education pays the highest dividends of any money expended by the state. Education prevents crime and raises the social standard generally. Retrenchment in education has gone far enough, in fact, too far. In the future we must not cut education if we do not want grave social dangers to arise. Professor Richmond asked us to defend our schools and to prove to the people what a necessary factor they are in maintaining a high social order.

The Kernel agrees most heartily with the views expressed by the Superintendent and hopes that the students of the University will help him in his fight for a square deal in education.

Jest Among Us

War or peace? You leave a political science class apparently at peace with the world. From there you go to military science and by the time you have finished you're ready to take Fort Sumter all over again. You chase over and vote for a May Queen candidate. A few hours later you have a date. The Jester asks you, "War or peace?" And you reply, "Aw! Neris."

And now that the election is over it's a bet that nine co-eds are sorry that they didn't attend some other university.

Headline—"Boyd hall—What Is It?" Merely an address, we'd say.

Monuments—The youthful flame who never made cracks about being or not being any relation to the red-headed sport editor!

"I'm disgusted with public life," says the Kingfish from Louisiana. We only wish that we could instill some of that philosophy into the heads of some of our campus politicians. Mister Senator.

Inflation is something that makes an auto tire look the same on the bottom as it does on the top.

"They laughed when I stood to crack a joke but they stopped when I cracked it!"

The Jester's own idea: why doesn't someone gently sneak around the corner and bootleg a little more prosperity up a one way alley?

A Texas University co-ed nonchalantly stopped a street car, placed on foot on the lower step, tied her shoe lace, thanked the conductor and walked off. Now we know what these bus authorities have in mind when they say, "Keep 20 feet behind."

The real evidence of beer was not realized until the Jester heard a "Sweet Adeline" quartet in one of the "joints."

SPRING

The spring is too much for us; late and soon
Dreaming and idling, we lay waste
our powers;
Little we see in text books that is ours

We have given our hearts away, but what a boon!
With pleasure now we study stars and moon;
But for class bells that still ring out the hours.
Calling us in from sunshine and sweet flowers;
For books, for tests, for toil, we are out of time;
It moves us not—Great God! I'd rather be

The gardener in his overalls outworking
So might I cutting grass out on the lea
Have song of birds to make me less forlorn;
Have rest oft-times beneath a shady tree,
And gaze on toiling students with much scorn.

Bewildered
Startled
We move on.
Chains about the ankles and wrists
And an ache in the heart

Confused
Helpless
We are lost.
Facing life as a slave
And the captive of time.

Casual Observations

By FRID H. SHIELDS

If your playing cards are soiled from careless players' besmudged hands, try cleaning them with a soft cloth moistened with spirits of camphor. It works and takes all the dirt off, too!

The first steamship that crossed the Atlantic ocean brought back a new English book that scientifically proved steam navigation a physical impossibility! Too bad that McFadden's Scientificfiction magazines weren't being published at that time. Just think that they missed another scientific dream!

Doesn't it make you boil to have quite, George! when your name is the girl-friend blurt out, "Now, Jim? But we have heard it said that a bootlegger has no more respect for the law than a rooster has for fidelity; and the guy who said that it takes a lot of Jack to entertain a Queen was exactly right!"

"What? No Glass?"

"Do you sleep with your window up or down?"
"I don't sleep with my window at all!"

Most of us have our own opinions about certain things and how they might have been evolved or concocted, but we can agree heartily with, "There never was anything made but what someone else could make it worse and sell it for less."

Why will a man bawl out his wife for failure to turn off the hall light and still keep up memberships in four clubs which he never visits? That may bring up the old sorority question of, "Why is it that Dick can keep up his dues, buy new ties, make all the subscription hops, and still can't afford candy once or twice a week when he comes over?"

Travel leads us to a true appreciation of home. Hu-m-m; yass, but faint often works in the reverse order and we can do nothing to relieve the bore because we have been on the brink of disaster so long that we can look down now and not get dizzy.

Not that some of us let the swift passage of time bother us or keep us from our many, varied, and often questionable pleasures, but just because a warning is wisdom to the intelligent, the Observer desires to call attention to the fact that exams are scheduled to begin May 25 at 8:30 a. m. That leaves a few days longer than six weeks before the battle begins.

Slg Epic

The Observer has been informed that the house dance suggested in a preceding Epic which did not appear, will be held by the Slg Eps on Derby night. Jimmie Salmon and his orchestra (why not call them "goldfish?") will furnish the blaring of trumpets, crash of drums and the moan of reed instruments for the affair. Maybe the Slg Eps girls will get the favors or something, who knows? Maybe that's why so many want to come.

Since a weather prophecy that will cover through May 1st was printed in the "return column," the old prophet will ask you to wait until Tuesday for the next offering—hoping, in the meanwhile, that he will feel inclined to promise something other than rain.

He was a promising young man—but he didn't keep his promise. And three shots rang out in the still night air.—Did I say anything about a shot-gun—I did not; I have to keep this clean.

Scandal Snickerings

By TINY

We understand that we have a contemporary who desires to give you a woman's viewpoint on campus scandal. So don't be surprised some Tuesday or Friday morning to see a byline of "Tenney" instead of Tiny on this column.

Several days ago we saw our friend Alphasig George Stewart walking gayly across the campus whistling "My Cuties Due at Two twenty-two." We think that spring must be "Just around the corner" . . . but today I have learned the cause of George's jovial appearance. . . . Alphasig, Virginia Whitehead is that cause. . . . She just dropped in from West Point, Mississippi for a few days visit with the girls and with "George."

Two weeks ago the Wildcat track team had a meet with Vanderbilt. Deltaw Ralph Kercheval won the javelin throw with a toss of 166 feet. . . . One of the Cincinnati papers in reporting the results of meet, published the results of the javelin throw as being 166 feet. . . . Kercheval received the clipping from the paper. . . . The 166 feet was underscored and the comment of "What-a Man" was written on the margin.

One of our "stool pigeons" has just informed us that Helen Alfrey Pikeville, a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences, 321 Aylesford place, couldn't get her phone number) is wearing the pin of Sigmamchi Paul Davis. Congratulations Paul. . . . We knew you could do it. . . . (Now, how about a cigar?)

A promise has just been made to Florence Kelley that she will receive no more publicity.

Oh yes, Joseph "Fyredom" Mills hasn't been mentioned for three whole weeks. . . . He has a new nickname, which is "Prattle-Prattle." We couldn't learn the origin of it. . . . If you don't know "Fyredome" you should, beyond a doubt, go to the Pershing Rifle drill meet on Stoll field the night of May 12 and see his boys "strut their stuff." . . . They are doped to repeat in winning the meet as they did last year at Illinois. . . . It will be worth your 35 cents to see the sponsors, which they have chosen, "strut their stuff" with those "Yanks" from Indiana and Ohio.

If "Hosses Are Romantic." So are the Alphasigs!

Some one asked us (for some unknown reason) why the green Chrysler sedan of Zetaw Amelia Carriek turned black overnight. . . . It didn't take long to find a story. . . . It seems that Amelia drove the car to the garage with instruction to wash it. . . . the garage man misunderstood her "wash order" for a "paint order." . . . When he asked her if "she wanted it black," she said "yes, I want it black at 4:30." . . . When she returned at 4:30 she found her car very much darker. . . . and Papa Carriek received a very large "Wash Bill."

Roamin' the Rialto

By JOAN CARIGAN

George Brent, Zita Johann, Vivienne Osborne, Alice White, Verree Teasdale, C. Aubrey Smith, and Frank Morgan head the passenger list of "Luxury Liner," drama which exposes the intimate lives of passengers on a transatlantic liner, currently showing at the Strand theater. Central figures in the drama are a physician, his nurse, and his wife who has eloped with another man. The estranged wife is driven to such desperate measures as affect the lives of everyone on the passenger list. B. P. Schubert produced the picture for Paramount.

Rolfé Harolde, who has played reporter roles in more than two-thirds of the pictures he has appeared in, is again a newspaper reporter in role opposite Thelma Todd in Equitable Pictures' "Cheating Blondes," playing at the Ben Ali. Others in the cast are Inez Courtney, Milton Wallis, and Mae Busch. Joseph Levering directed.

Although George Sidney and Charlie Murray, co-starred in "The Cohens and the Kellys in Trouble," still bear the names of Nathan Goddard and Patrick Kelly, they appear this time in two entirely different characters than ever before, and in a new and fresh background. Sidney is a merchant who has always longed to go to sea, while Murray is a tug-boat captain. However, the laughs are still present and are not abated with the appearance of Jobyna Howland, Maureen O'Sullivan, and Andy Devine in the supporting cast. The comedy is showing at the Kentucky theater.

Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper are co-starring the first time in "Today We Live," which opens Sunday at the Strand theater, as a limnization of a new story by the new writer, William Faulkner. The picture is said to give Miss Crawford brilliant opportunities as the young English girl who struggles desperately for a chance for love amid the turmoil of the World War.

Hosses Are Romantic --- by Craddock

SADIE

OLD PLUTO

By JOHNNIE CRADDOCK

"Hosses Are Romantic," say Bill Ardery, Hugh Adcock and Jimmie Curtis. So is an ostrich. At least Kernel supporters think so, for they have two entries in the Stroller Handicap which will be run Monday and Tuesday, May 1 and 2, at the Woodland auditorium. The odds are 794-1 on these entries. Odd isn't it?

We call our ostrich Sadie because all ostriches are named Sadie. She is on a strict diet of alarm clocks and tin cans. And her trainers think that she will win by a neck. Her jockey will be a 349 pound descendant of Paul Revere, and there will be three extra passengers in the rumber seat. Put your money on this born daughter of the turf. She's a turf baby.

Old Pluto will also carry the Kernel colors because he knows his oats. He would have won the derby last year if he hadn't stopped to eat grass. His trainers are so confident that he will win that they are going to hitch him to a hay baler when he goes to the barrier. Old Pluto is sure to win in the long run.

Besides the Stroller Handicap, numerous other features will be offered in the production of "Hosses Are Romantic." Some of the best plow horses in the state have been drafted to play the leading roles in this heart-tearing, soul-stirring mellerdrammer. You have no idea just how romantic a hoss can be until you see these nags grace the stage with their dramatic antics.

Persons bet on hosses because THEY'RE OFF. But you can bank on these plugs to give you a world of entertainment. Can you afford to miss it? Neigh! Neigh! So bring along your saddle and bridle to the Woodland auditorium and see the best production that Strollers have ever presented.

How we pick 'em:
Win—Sadie or Pluto.
Place—Woodland auditorium.
Show—"Hosses Are Romantic."
Time—May 1 and 2.
THEY'RE OFF!

Back When I Was A Boy!

Judge Stoll Says That He Couldn't Even Speak to Girls "In Good Old Days"

By GLADYS F. DAVIS

Just in case you are cautiously wording a letter explaining why you are campused, had your social privileges jerked, and can't take the kid sister or some other social embarrassment to any of the spring dances—it might be a help to add that Judge Richard C. Stoll was in the same position back in 1895 when he was attending State.

In his own words—"When I went out there, we were not allowed to speak to girls in the halls. One night there was to be a dance and I told a girl I'd be over for her at 8 o'clock—we began dancing early in those days. Mrs. Blackburn was matron then, and do you know, I was fired for the rest of the week. Yes sir, fired for the rest of the week."

Judge Stoll was born in Lexington in 1876. He attended State College and Yale Law School. He was admitted to the bar in 1897. He retired from the bench of the Fayette Circuit court in January, 1931, after serving as circuit judge for 10 years. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha Delta social fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, and Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

State College was very small when Judge Stoll entered it in 1891. There were only about 200 students. "When I graduated in 1895 President Patterson was unable to give out our diplomas because of his son's death, so Mr. Shackleford gave them out. There were only 19 members in the class." (Here he paused and looked out on the cold gray afternoon with a faraway look in his eyes.)

Judge Stoll was made a member of the trustee board of the University by W. O. Bradley in 1898. "I said, 'There was General Don C. Blued, who was Major General in the Union Army. He commanded the battle of Perryville. He was a most interesting man—had long gray whiskers,' he added with a smile. 'James B. Marcum, who was killed at Jackson in the Harford, Calhan, and Cockwell feuds, was another. General E. H. Hobson was a commander of the Union troops which were camped where Stoll field is now. They drank water from the Maxwell spring. That old spring lies far from the southeast corner of the gymnasium."

"You know there are many more times the number of students now than there were when I went out there. More girls, too. Girls are better looking now than they ever were. All women are," he added. "Is that an honest opinion, Judge?" I asked.

"Yes, my only regret is that I wasn't born 40 years later."

When Judge Stoll attended State there were only four buildings on the campus—the Administration building, White hall, called the "old dormitory"; Neville hall, the "new dormitory," and the Law building which was then the Experiment station.

Judge Stoll played football, was captain of the track team in 1895, and manager of the baseball team in the same year. He said that Stoll field, which was his gift to the University, was purchased from a man named Mulligan, but he refused to give further details.

"The rest of the campus was given to the University by Lexington. The grounds were formerly the old far grounds or city park. How old I feel when I talk about this," the Judge continued. "I am old, I guess," he added.

"Why, you aren't old, Judge. No one is older than he feels. Sometimes I feel old, and I was just 21 not so long ago."

"Twenty-one," he scoffed. "Why you were born in 1876, weren't you. Why, in 1911 I had been practicing law 14 years. Twenty-one! My, my, what you want to do is to keep young. A woman is always as old as she looks and a man is as old as he feels. To stay young keep in a good humor and always keep a smile on your face. I have tried to do that all my life."

The interview was at an end. As he walked to the door with me, I thanked him for the interview. He said that it was nothing at all, and reminded me to keep young. "Remember to keep in a good humor and you'll stay young," he called after me.

MONOTONE

The monotone of the rain is beautiful. And the sudden rest and slow release of the long multitudinous rain.

The sun on the hills is beautiful. Or a captured sunset, sea-buff, Battered with fire and gold.

A face I know is beautiful— With fire and gold of sky and sea. And the peace of long warm rain.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By DELMAR ADAMS

Since this is the off season in sports at the University, there will be no athletic contests here Saturday. But Monday afternoon, the Varsity track team will travel over to the stronghold of the Berea Mountaineers and engage in a dual meet.

The Big Blue stages a jamboree annually when they tie up with the other Blue and White team and the meet next week promises to live up to the precedent set. From here it looks as if Berea will take but two and possibly three. In the pole vault they have two men who have gone well over 11 feet and Evans in the high jump should win handily.

Now is the time for all good men to try their hand in picking a possible Kentucky Derby winner. Since Press Box has never made hoeses a business it will be left to the other fellow, so a friend who does know his "oats" and "hay" will name his choice in the annual thoroughbred classic. Watch for pickings in the next edition or two.

Baseball is here and since there is no varsity team representing the University most of the eligible men for that sport on the campus are playing with independent teams. Bach, DeMoisey, Kreuter, Orr, Settle and others are the mainstays of teams within the circle of the Bluegrass DeMoisey is hurling for the Lexington Eppings and promises to become fully as great a ball player as he is a basketball artist.

Since Ralph E. Johnson left his sports editing post he is enjoying days of leisure. Wednesday night he took it into his head to observe the Stroller Revue rehearsal. After several hours there he made the following report:

Every good looking girl on the campus is in the cabaret and sorority scene. Bill Ardery has done a splendid job of writing... the specialty numbers in the cabaret scene are extra... swell... Louise Johnson does a dance as keen as Ziegfeld ever saw... Betsy Fry is still the best dressed co-ed... you'll love her deep-south accent... it is reported that Bill Ardery left instructions with the casting office that they should get every good-looking girl on the campus whether they could act or not... they got the girls good-looking all right; some

CAT TENNIS TEAM MEETS TWO FOES

Indiana and Xavier Meet Varsity Today and Saturday; Frosh Easily Defeat University High

While the varsity netmen are working out in preparation for their matches with Xavier and Indiana, today and tomorrow, the freshmen are likewise swinging into action. In their first match, played against University High Wednesday afternoon, the freshmen were victorious 6 to 1.

Fifteen freshmen have reported to Coach Downing, but not all of them have an opportunity as yet to show what they can do. In the match Wednesday, Charles Randall played No. 1 position, but was defeated by his brother Dave, 1-6, 8-10. George Tulloch, former state champion of Oklahoma, played No. 2 and defeated Mason Jacob, 6-2, 2-6, 10-8.

In the No. 3 singles Elvin Stahr easily handled Robert Snyder, 6-0, 6-1. James Moore swamped H. Wiedeman by the same score in the No. 4, and James Harralson conquered Sam Walton, 6-3, 6-2, in the last of the singles.

Two double matches were played, and Tulloch and C. Randall defeated Jacob and D. Randall in the No. 1, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2. In the final match, Moore and Harralson swamped Tom Rentz and Robert Olney, 6-0, 6-0.

The varsity match with St. Xavier will be called at 2 p. m. this afternoon, and with Indiana University tomorrow at the same time.

Coaches-Faculty To Meet On Court

(Continued from Page One) Seale, Offhand, the winner of this match should be Seale for his steam-roller tactics should prove too much for the lighter man. But Singer is a fighter and will be in there until the finish.

Two boxing contests will be staged and the engineers who will show their wares are "Bill" Hansen who will endeavor to send "Corker" Server to the cleaners, and "Young" Thomas, the actor-pug who has challenged Heinz of the Hygiene department to a fistful duel.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the faculty band. This organization has flourished during the past year and has added a few more washbats to the bass drum section. A special arrangement of the famous melody, "The Kitchen Sink" will be played.

Members of the faculty squad are Professor Asher, May, Roy, Farris, Sullivan, Shannon Conrad, Forman, Cunov, Koppous, Singer, Allen, and McFarlan.

The coaches have Gamage, Shively, Rupp, Campbell, Richards, Seale Mann, Hansen, Hackensmith and Potter ready for action.

FROSH THINLIES MEET M. M. I. SATURDAY

Coach M. E. Potter's freshman track team will open its season at 3 p. m. with the M. M. I. cadets Saturday on Stoll field.

Trials were held yesterday afternoon to determine the members of the track squad who will participate in the meet tomorrow afternoon.

Of the freshmen who tried out yesterday, Norris McMill, Clarence Ayres, J. D. White, and Fred Thompson looked to be the pick of the lot. Times and distances were rather disappointing due to the fact that the boys haven't had very much time to get into shape.

Men who qualified were 100-yard dash: McMillan, Ayres, Time :10.5; 220: Ayres, McMillan, Lunch, Time :24.7; 440: Thompson, King, and Graves, Time :55 flat, 880: White, King, Holbrook, Time 2:15. Mile: White, Van Arsdale, Slaton, Time 5:01. 220 low hurdles: McMillan, Ayres, Time :27.9; 120 high hurdles: Caruthers, Hay, Time :19.05. Shot put: Kelly, Olah, Jobe. Distance 39 feet; discus throw: Bertolini, Gilmer, Heckman, Distance 142 feet, five inches. Javelin throw: McMillan, S. Potter, Gilmer, Distance 142 feet five inches. Broad Jump: Olah, Hay, Height, five feet four inches. Pole Vault: Jackson, Hay, Hess, Height 11 feet.

'Cat Track Team To Meet Berea Men

(Continued from Page One) In the sprints, Parrish's performance against Galloway of Tech was very encouraging although he placed third. His time was :10, the best he has done this year, and he may be able to lower this time before the end of the season. Doug will also run the high and low hurdles and if he continues his phenomenal workouts will lower his own record in the high and better the school record in the 220 lows.

The 'Cat quarter milers have had little success so far this year, but Foster and Tom Cassidy are showing improved form, and Ellis Johnson, the third Blue and White 440 man, is getting into better shape and may oust one of the other boys before the season is concluded.

Charlie Gates, sophomore middle distance man who surprised track followers with a neat win in the half-mile Saturday, has improved greatly and should get his second win of the year against the Mountaineers. Mahan, who won this event against Vanderbilt should take a second in the 880 or might possibly win as he is a crack runner. Mahan will run the mile also and Capt. Howard Baker, who is the most consistent distance performer to represent the Wildcats in years, will be the second man. Miller probably will run both the half and the mile. Vinson and Baker will run the two-mile for the 'Cats and Baker should win an easy victory. Berea's distance men should place in both the mile and two-mile runs on basis of their season's records.

Berea should win two events, as the 'Cats have only one talented man in the pole vault and high jump, while the Mountain team has two capable men in both events. In the high jump Eric Evans has jumped over five feet, 7 inches, which is better than any of the 'Cat jumpers have been able to do. Berea has two pole vaulters who consistently vault over 11 feet, six inches. Parrish should place in the pole vault, however, and Tuttle should draw a second in the high jump with Miller third. Tuttle's prowess in the discus throw should be sufficient to get the 'Cats a first in this event and either Rupert or Luther should account for as though the Wildcats should win in the shot with the other places a toss up between the Berea men and the other two Kentuckians.

Evans, versatile Berea man, may give Parrish some trouble in the hurdles and may get a place in the broad jump but from here it looks as though hite Wildcats should win practically all the events and account for several seconds and thirds.

Kercheval should win the javelin throw handily, although Berea is said to have a powerful spear tosser.
